NOTEWORTHY

POINTING THE WAY

Veteran point guard Jasmine Thomas, who was named the Eastern Conference Player of the Week for June 26-July 2, is in the midst of another career year with the Sun. She has already tied her single-season career high with 35 made threes (on 71 attempts), and she ranks fourth in the WNBA in three-point shooting percentage (.493), fifth in assist average (5.4) and second on the Sun in scoring (15 ppg). Thomas collected her 700th career assist in the 89-56 win over San Antonio Wednesday, finishing with 10 points and eight assists in limited minutes. Prior to the win at San Antonio, she had made four threes in five of the last six games for the Sun. Thomas set a career-high for assists with 11 in the win over Atlanta on June 10th, and a new career-high for points with 29 in a 96-89 victory over the Seattle Storm (6/29). She has also made some crucial shots this season. At Indiana, Thomas hit a three-pointer with 47 seconds left in a tie game to lift the Sun. Against Seattle, she scored with 33.8 seconds left to put the Sun ahead 94-89. At New York on June 23rd, her three-pointer with 24.4 seconds left secured a 94-89 win. Acquired in a 2015 WNBA Draft Day trade with Atlanta for rookie Brittany Hrynko, Thomas leads the team in assists and steals (17), and is second in scoring and made threes.

VERSATILE CONTRIBUTIONS

Named WNBA Eastern Conference Player of the Week for June 19-25, Alyssa Thomas is one of the most versatile forwards in the WNBA. An athletic post who thrives in transition, she can score, rebound and pass, and is also among the best defenders in the league. She tied a franchise record with seven steals at San Antonio, where she also had 13 points, eight rebounds and five assists. In the previous game at Indiana, she had 15 points, eight assists and seven rebounds. That followed 17 points, a career-high nine assists and five rebounds against Seattle (6/29). Thomas has 23 assists in the last three games, and 76 in just 15 games. Her previous career high for a season was 70 in 2016. Thomas is averaging 5.1 assists per game, which is tops among post players and better than a number of point guards around the WNBA. At her current pace, she would finish with 168 assists. She had 154 in her three previous seasons, combined. Thomas ranks third on the team in scoring average (13.9 ppg), second in rebounding (6.2 per game) and leads in steals per game (1.67). She has flirted with triple doubles twice (20 points, eight rebounds, eight assists at Minnesota on June 17; 12 points, eight rebounds, eight assists at New York on June 23).

GUARDED OPTIMISM

Second-year guard Courtney Williams had another big night at San Antonio, where she finished with 17 points and four rebounds on 8-of-14 shooting Wednesday. Williams had the best night of her WNBA career – she had career-highs of 23 points, 10 rebounds and 10 made field goals on the way to her first professional double-double – in a win at San Antonio on June 3rd. In that game, Williams made her first six shots from the field while jump-starting a first-half Sun rally. She was 6-of-7 from the field for 13 points in the second quarter alone as Connecticut turned a 27-21 deficit into a 40-35 halftime lead. In seven games prior to Seattle (6/29), Williams was averaging 17.3 points. She had a big game at New York (6/23), where she finished with 14 points, six rebounds, and two assists. Williams had six points late in the fourth quarter, including a crucial jumper with 54.3 seconds left that snapped an 86-86 tie. She then pulled down a rebound in traffic after New York missed its next shot, and had the assist on a Jasmine Thomas three-pointer that iced the game. Williams started the season by making her first seven shots from the field in a season-opening loss to Atlanta (5/13).

BOARD GAMES

Second-year center Jonquel Jones had her streak of double-doubles end at four after playing limited minutes in the win over San Antonio. She had new career highs for points and made field goals at Indiana, where she was 11 of 13 from the field for 29 points and 15 rebounds. She is averaging a league-best 12 rebounds per game, and is on pace to challenge the WNBA single-season record of 398 rebounds set by Tina Charles as a rookie with the Sun in 2010. In that season, Charles averaged 11.7 rebounds per game. Through 18 games, Charles had 188 rebounds. Jones has 184. Named WNBA Eastern Conference Player of the Week for games played June 12-17th, Jones has reached double figures in rebounds 11 times and scored in double figures 12 times. In the last 11 games, Jones has averaged 17.3 points and 13.1 rebounds with eight double-doubles and 11 made threes. She tied a franchise record with 10 offensive rebounds in the loss to the Sparks (6/27).

Below is a game-by-game comparison of Charles in 2010 and Jones in 2017.

ROAD TESTED

As of July 7th, no team in the WNBA has played more games on the road than Connecticut, which is 6-4 away from Mohegan Sun Arena as it visits San Antonio. With a win over the Stars, Connecticut matched its road victory total from 2016. Only Minnesota has more road wins than Connecticut. The win at Indiana marked the third time this season it has prevailed in a traditionally tough venue. The Sun gave Minnesota its only loss of the season in St. Paul, and it beat New York at Madison Square Garden. The Lynx, Liberty and Fever are a combined 16-7 at home through July 7th. The reward for surviving a tough early road schedule will be playing eight of nine at home from July 30-August 25th.

20-20 VISION

In a victory at Chicago on May 28th, Jones became just the 13th player in WNBA history to record a 20-20 game, finishing with career-highs of 23 points and 21 rebounds. It was just the 17th such game in league history. Jones also became just the third player in WNBA history – joining Charles and Sylvia Fowles – to collect multiple 20-rebound games in the same season. She had 20 rebounds in the season opener against Atlanta (5/13). With the Sun in 2010, Charles had three 20-rebound games, including a franchise record 23 against Phoenix (6/25/10). Sylvia Fowles had two 20 rebound games in 2013, both against the Sun.

LONG RANGE THREATS

Connecticut leads the WNBA with a three-point shooting percentage of .440, which would be a league record if it holds up. The Sun have also have more made threes (118), and are averaging a league-best 7.38 per game. New York set the current mark of .409 (233-570) in 2010. The Sun were 9 of 16 at Indiana, and have made 10 or more threes five times this season. Connecticut made a season-high 12 threes at New York, which is tied for the fifth most in team history.

STRICK STRIKES

Although Shekinna Stricklen failed to make any of her three attempts Wednesday at San Antonio, she has hit 25 of 60 (41.7 percent) from behind the arc over the last 10 games. She is second on the team in made threes this season with 34, and ranks sixth in the WNBA in three-point shooting percentage (.436). At Washington on May 31st, Stricklen tied a career-high with six made threes on the way to a season-high 20 points. It was the third time in her career that Stricklen had made six threes in a game, but the first time in a Sun uniform. Acquired by the Sun in 2015 from the Seattle Storm as part of a trade that involved Renee Montgomery, Stricklen led the Sun with 51 made threes in 2015.

STREAK ENDS FOR JASMINE

Earlier this season Jasmine Thomas had an impressive streak snapped when she missed the game at Indiana (5/20) to attend her brother's wedding. Prior to that game, Thomas had played in all 205 WNBA games since she was drafted out of Duke by the Seattle Storm with the 12th overall pick in 2011.

GETTING OFFENSIVE

In the last two games, Connecticut has made a combined 72 of 137 (52.6 percent) shots from the field. The Sun made 56.5 percent from the field (39 of 69) against Seattle. The 39 made field goals were the second highest total this season – the Sun had 41 in a win at Minnesota on June 17th – and tied for third highest in franchise history. The Sun rank second in scoring average (86.5 ppg), and have scored in the 90s seven times this year. During a five-game winning streak that ended in Dallas – the longest since the Sun won seven straight from June 7-June 26 of 2015 – Connecticut averaged 95.4 points per game on 35.8 made field goals. And the Sun did it short-handed. Morgan Tuck has missed eight straight games with a knee contusion, Lynetta Kizer has missed five games with a back strain and Bentley missed three games playing for Belarus. Through the first four games of the year, Connecticut was averaging 74.7 points per game.

BENTLEY RETURNS

Alex Bentley had her best game since re-joining the Sun following a three-game hiatus to compete for the Belarus National team in the 2017 FIBA Euro-Basket Women's tournament in mid-June. She had 11 points with a three-pointer in the win at Indiana Saturday. Bentley averaged 14 points, 4.3 assists and four rebounds in three games for Belarus.

PEDERSEN IS BACK

Veteran forward Kayla Pedersen had a season-high six rebounds off the bench against Seattle, and continues to provide a solid, veteran presence off the bench. She is averaging 3.7 rebounds over the last four games while supplying dependable defense in the post. She had five rebounds, four points and a pair of assists in 21 minutes off the bench at Dallas. Signed to a contract on June 10th, she joined the team the following day. Originally acquired by the Sun for a second round pick in a trade with the Tulsa Shock on June 20, 2013, the 6-foot-4 Pedersen appeared in 89 games for the Sun. She did not play in the WNBA last season. Pedersen played in Italy during this past offseason, helping Lucca capture the Italian League Series A championship in four games over Familia Schio.

UNWELCOME INTERRUPTION

Veteran forward Lynetta Kizer was on a roll before a back injury in practice sidelined her for five games from 6/10-6/25. In the three games prior to her injury, she had averaged 11.3 points and seven rebounds including a strong performance off the bench at Washington (5/31), finishing with 12 points and season-highs of eight rebounds and four steals. She had a season-high 16 points at Chicago (5/28). Acquired in a three-team trade from the Indiana Fever on February 21st, Kizer is averaging 10 points per game so far this season. Last year, she averaged a career-best 9.6 points per game.

LEARNING TO CLOSE

At Washington on May 31st, Connecticut was edged by two points for the third time in five games. The Sun led the Mystics 73-64 with 4:33 left, but the hosts rallied. The game was tied at 75 with 1:15 remaining, but an Elena Della Donne three-point play with 44.8 seconds left sealed the win. In the first two games of the regular season – losses to Atlanta (5/13) and on the road at Indiana (5/20) – the score was tied at 72 in the closing minutes. Against the Dream, Connecticut was outscored 9-2 in the last 2:59 of an 81-74 loss. At Indiana, the Sun were outscored 9-7 in the last 1:39 of the game. At Indiana, the Sun led by 10 in the first minute of the fourth quarter, but were outscored 29-19 in the last 10 minutes. At Minnesota (5/23), the Sun rallied from a nine-point deficit in the final two minutes, but was unable to get off a shot in the last 18.6 seconds.

TUCK SITS

Morgan Tuck sat out her 11th straight game because of a knee contusion in the win over San Antonio. She is currently listed as day-to-day. Tuck opened the season with a career-high 21 points in a loss to the Atlanta Dream. She had her first career double-double at Minnesota (12 points, 10 rebounds), and is averaging 11.8 points per game. As a rookie in 2016, Tuck appeared in 26 games with three starts but hurt her left knee in Atlanta on August 28th. She had surgery to repair cartilage damage on September 13th.

TERRAPIN STATION

With the trade for Lynetta Kizer and the selection of Brionna Jones with the eighth overall pick in the 2017 WNBA Draft, the Sun now have three Maryland players on the roster. Alyssa Thomas, the third Terrapin on the team, actually played with both Kizer and Jones.
