Fever sign guard Doneeka Lewis

The Indiana Fever signed guard Doneeka Lewis to a seven-day contract. The fourth-year WNBA player joined the team for practice during its Olympic Break, with the term of her contract beginning when the Fever resumes play Aug. 28.

Along with her twin sister, Roneeka Hodges, who plays for the Houston Comets, Lewis is one of three sets of twins in WNBA history.

Lewis has averaged 3.7 points and 1.7 assists in 97 WNBA games.
