

The Sky Cares Foundation was honored on Saturday, November 15 at the opening of House for Hoops by Footlocker with a donation that was accepted by Candice Dupree. The event at North Riverside Mall in Riverside, IL celebrated the best of Chicago basketball with appearances by Bulls legends and current superstars alike.

Saturday's events hosted by Steven A Smith and Terry Crews, which culminated with the donation presentation to Candice, were highlighted with appearances by Chicago legends Sony Parker, Billy Harris, Rickey Green, Mickey Johnson, Lamar Mondane and Mac Irvin along with championship NBA athletes Scottie Pippen and Ron Harper. Members of the 1989 University of Illinois Fighting Illini Final Four team were also on hand.

NIKE's donation to the Sky Cares Foundation will have a direct impact on the city of Chicago by helping to create opportunities for youth in the community. Through funding by NIKE and other donations, Sky Cares is able to open doors for under-privileged girls and young women in Chicago by introducing positive mentors and offering ways for the girls to value themselves from the inside out.
