Dupree for three ...

Candice Dupree sunk a career-high three 3s against the Dream. She also scored a game-high 23 points.

Renaissance Perkins

Jia Perkins came close to a triple double with 17 points, eight rebounds and seven assists. Perkins has been a leader on the court in nearly every category in both games for the Sky.

2009 Home Opener

The Sky will host the Atlanta Dream in to open the 2009 season at the UIC Pavilion. The Sky is coming off a 102-85 loss in its season opener and will look to get even at .500 on the season.

D-P for Dupree and Perkins

Candice Dupree and Jia Perkins will be looking to parlay big opening nights into a win in the Sky's season opener. Perkins scored a game-high 24 points against the Lynx, she also grabbed 6 rebounds. Dupree scored 21 points and dished out four assists.

Crashing the Boards

The Sky got outrebounded 27-20 in their season debut. Led by centers Sylvia Fowles and Chen Nan, the Sky will look to erase any doubt that they can dominate the glass Friday against Atlanta.

2009 Season Opener

Friday's game against Minnesota is the season opener for each team. The Sky will look to build on last season's 12-22 mark. Expectations are high as the team enters the season healthy. Playoffs have been mentioned among players when discussing where they expect the season to go.

Females Reign Supreme

The ladies didn't come to win, they came to dominate in the Basketball Battle of the Sexes. The Sky defeated the Entertainment League 102-55 Tuesday at the UIC Pavilion. Candice Dupree led all scores with 20 points. Dupree and Sylvia Fowles each grabbed seven rebounds.

Roster Maintenance

The Sky cut down to their final roster on June 2 by releasing third-year forward Mistie Bass. In four pre-season games Bass averaged almost six rebounds and four points per game. Guard Jennifer Risper was released on May 30. Guards Quianna Chaney and Danielle Gant were released on May 24.

Sylvia's Offseason

After becoming the first woman to dunk in a Women's European league game and leading her team to the Women's European league championship, Fowles got out of the gate quickly to start to the 2009 WNBA season. Fowles scored a game-high 21 points and grabbed nine rebounds against defending WNBA champions the Detroit Shock in each team's first preseason game. Fowles was held out of the Sky's second pre-season game due to a coach's decision.

The Sky Go International

The Sky made big news this offseason by signing Chinese International star Chen Nan to the team. Nan, a 6-5 center, has played for the Chinese Olympic team since she was 16 years old and led the team in scoring and rebounding in the 2008 Summer Olympics in Beijing. In her first taste of WNBA action Nan scored nine points and grabbed three rebounds. With Nan and Fowles on the floor, the Sky made its decisive run against the Shock.

New Faces in the Crowd

The Sky selected three players in the 2009 WNBA Draft. With the third overall pick in the first round, the Sky selected Kristi Toliver from the University of Maryland. The 5-7 guard is an excellent outside shooter and will give the Sky a deep threat. With their second pick in the draft, the Sky selected Danielle Gant (16th overall) from Texas A&M. Gant is a strong defensive player and will add toughness to the Chicago line up. And with their final pick, the Sky selected Jennifer Risper from Vanderbilt.

Sky Pick-ups

The Sky also added three new players in the offseason. Mistie Bass was selected in the WNBA Dispersal Draft from the Houston Comets. Mistie has given the Sky problems in the past, most notably her clutch performance in the 2008 season finale that sealed the win for her Houston Comets. The Sky also picked up Shyra Ely and Erin Thorn as free agents.

Sky front line

With Nan and Fowles, the Sky has a pair of centers who are at least 6-5 and have Olympic experience that will look to dominate the paint and clean up on the glass. The two ignited Chicago's decisive third-quarter run against Shock in the team's first preseason game.

Sky on the road

For the first time in team history the Sky hit the road for pre-season tune ups. The Sky played the Shock in Detroit and the Fever in Indianapolis. Previously the Sky has played outside of Chicago in Hoffman Estates, IL and Milwaukee, WI. Both sites were considered neutral.

Toliver off to hot start

Rookie sniper Kristi Toliver has made every shot she's taken in her short WNBA career except three. Toliver is shooting .75 pct from the field and .83 pct from three-point range. She's averaging just under eight points in 13 minutes per game so far in the pre-season.

Basketball Battle of the Sexes

The Sky will host the first ever Basketball Battle of the Sexes when it faces off against the all-male Entertainment League (E-League) team June 2 at 7:00 p.m. The E-League team is comprised of elite names in music, movies and television from around the country including Chicago natives; Michael Clark Duncan, Larenz Tate, Cory Hardrict, Steve Harris and Lahmard Tate.

STEVEN KEY, General Manager and Head Coach

The 2009 season marks Steven Key's fourth season with the Chicago Sky and second season as head coach and general manager. He is the Sky's third head coach.

Key was assistant coach to Head Coach Dave Cowens in the Sky's inaugural 2006 season. He joined the Sky with three years' experience coaching men's basketball overseas, and twelve years as a professional basketball player. Key was head coach of the Dusseldorf Magics in Germany for three years where he led the team to a fourth place finish (19-11) in the German Second Division during his final season.

During his inaugural year with the Magics, Key finished the season with a 20-10 record after being named head coach seven games into the season, finishing fifth in the German Second Division. Key then led the Magics to a 25-5 record his second season for third place in the division.

Prior to coaching, Key played in the CBA for the San Jose Jammers (1990-1991) and played professionally for twelve years overseas. Key played in Austria (1991-1992); Tübingen, Germany (1992-1993); Bayreuth, Germany (1993-1994); Australia (1995); Rostock, Germany (1996-1999), where he played against Dallas Mavericks' Dirk Nowitzki and was named a three-time All-Star; Breast, France (1999); Braunschweig, Germany (1999-2000); Dusseldorf, Germany (2000-2001); and St. Quentin, France (2001-2002).

Key, a 6'4" former point guard at Boston University, played for head coach Mike Jarvis from 1986-1990, where he became a regular instructor at Dave Cowen's basketball camps, continuing to volunteer his time through 2005. The relationship between the two continued and Key began assisting Cowens with overseas scouting of international players for the Sky while he was in Germany.

A native of Columbia, Maryland, Key has five siblings in a tight-knit, athletic family. His sister Darlynda received a scholarship to run on the University of Michigan's first-ever women's track team post-Title IX; his sister Kimberlee taught him how to play basketball and later went on to play at Saginaw Valley State with now University of Texas Head Coach Gail Goestenkors; and his brother Josh played basketball at Northwood University. Basketball is a family tradition: Key's father Sam was one of the first Americans to play professionally overseas. Sam moved the family to Belgium, where Key lived his first eight years before relocating to Michigan. Key attended Atholton High School in Columbia, Maryland and was named 1986 Howard County Player of the Year. He earned his bachelor's degree in Communications from Boston University, and speaks French and German. This past off-season, Key and his wife, Janka, had their first child, Sidney Kiana, and currently reside in Chicago.

MICHAEL MITCHELL, Assistant Coach

Michael Mitchell joined the Sky on April 7, 2008, bringing 15 years of professional play in the post and three years as a coach. Mitchell was the second overall pick in the 1990 CBA Draft before taking his game overseas, where he played for the Gold Coast Rollers, Australian NBL (1991-1994); Brisbane Bullets, Australian NBL (1994-1996); North Melbourne Giants, Australian NBL (1996-1997); Rhondorf Dragons in Germany (1997-1999); and as a member of the Irish National Team (2000-2003). Mitchell played with Sky Head Coach Steve Key in Australia and Germany. Mitchell was an assistant basketball coach at the University of California, Riverside for two years, and most recently was the head coach for the Ramona High School boy's basketball team. He played collegiate ball at Fresno State University (1985-88), where he was named 1986 PCAA Freshman of the Year and 1987 PCAA Second Team All Conference. Mitchell later attended Colorado State University (1988-1990) where he was named 1990 WAC MVP, 1990 WAC Newcomer of the Year, 1990 First Team All Conference and 1990 NABC All-Star Team. Mitchell holds a B.S. in kinesiology from Cal Baptist University in Riverside. He has a son, Donovan (11), and a daughter, Myca (9).

STEPHANIE WHITE, Assistant Coach

Considered to be one of the top young assistants in women's basketball and a five-year WNBA veteran, Stephanie White is in her third season as an assistant coach for the Sky. Prior to joining the team on February 12, 2007, White was an assistant coach for the University of Toledo women's basketball team. White also worked as assistant coach at both Kansas State (2004-05) and Ball State (2003-04). She played for five years in the WNBA, one year with the Charlotte Sting and four years with the Indiana Fever, before retiring due to injuries. A 1999 Purdue graduate with a degree in communication, White was honored as the Wade Trophy National Player of the Year after leading the Boilermakers to their first national title in 1999. She was named Academic All-American of the Year in 1999. A West Lebanon, Indiana native, White played at Seeger Memorial High School and was the consensus 1995 National Player of the Year by Gatorade, Parade Magazine and USA Today.
