Cameron, Box to address Tulsa Page One Luncheon

Bill Cameron and David Box, who are leading the charge for a WNBA franchise in Tulsa, will talk about the team at the Tulsa Press Club's Page One Luncheon on August 26.

The cost is $12 for members and $15 for nonmembers. Everyone is encouraged to attend. Lunch will be served beginning at 11:15 a.m. and Box and Cameron will begin at noon. A short question and answer session will follow.

The Tulsa Press Club is located in the lobby of the Atlas Life Building at 415 S. Boston. For reservations, call the Tulsa Press Club at (918) 583-7737.

Mayberry: WNBA would be a big win for Tulsa area

In a recent article in the Tulsa World, Metropolitan Tulsa Urban League President Marla Mayberry wrote about the great opportunity Tulsa has in its effort to land a WNBA franchise.

"How wonderful this could be for Tulsa! Add this to our resources (the BOK Center, our extensive youth league, the fact that we've generated at least five NBA players over the last 10 years) and it seems like a perfect fit," wrote Mayberry, the wife of former NBA player Lee Mayberry.

"Getting a team and keeping it here will be a big investment, but once we do, that love and support for the community will come right back. This opportunity would provide many positive things for Tulsa, new elements that would only improve our city's standing as a place of excellence."

Orender says league looking ahead to a bright future

WNBA President Donna Orender recently sat down with the press in Minneapolis to talk about the present and future of the WNBA. Included in that conversation was talk of sponsorship, growth and, specifically, Tulsa.

"My expectations are always great," Orender told the Minneapolis Star-Tribune. "I would expect that we would be able to continue to grow. We understand our business more and more every day."

On Tulsa, Orender said: "They know what they have to do and probably in another four-six weeks we will know whether they will join us."
